DeSantis Petitions Florida Supreme Court to Investigate COVID Vaccine 'Misconduct'

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis said he'll petition the state's Supreme Court to impanel a grand jury "to investigate any and all wrongdoings in Florida with respect to the COVID-19 vaccines" and "bring accountability" to anyone who committed "misconduct."

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis said on Dec. 13 that he'll petition the state's Supreme Court to impanel a grand jury "to investigate any and all wrongdoings in Florida with respect to the COVID-19 vaccines."

He made the announcement following a roundtable with Florida Surgeon General Dr. Joseph Ladapo and a panel of scientists and physicians.

"We'll be able to get more information and bring more accountability to those who committed this misconduct," DeSantis said.

He said he anticipated getting the court's approval and that the grand jury would likely sit in the Tampa Bay area.

He noted that Florida recently "got $3.2 billion through legal action against those responsible for the opioid crisis," such as opioid manufacturers and distributors.

"So, it's not like this is something that's unprecedented," DeSantis said.

Taking part in the roundtable of experts in a virtual teleconference in West Palm Beach were doctors, researchers and people holding both such positions who found adverse effects from the vaccine but said they were silenced when they tried to study further or publicize the findings.

Some participants were affiliated with elite universities such as Harvard and Stanford. Two were Scandinavian researchers who joined the roundtable to discuss their nations' radically different approaches to vaccine mandates and child masking, approaches now validated in light of their better COVID-19 outcomes.

In a session that lasted more than 90 minutes, they discussed the research they had done and the marginalization they faced as their data and questions were silenced. The discussion also included two victims who described serious side effects from mRNA COVID-19 vaccines.

The experts who joined DeSantis will now constitute the state's Public Health Integrity Committee. The governor discussed how the public health establishment had "totally squandered any type of confidence or goodwill people would have."

"Our CDC [Centers for Disease Control and Prevention], at this point, you assume that anything they put out is not worth the paper it's printed on. … They're not serving a useful function," DeSantis said. "They're really serving to advance narratives rather than to do evidence-based medicine."

He and other governors agreed there needed to be a review process of directives coming from on high.

The new committee "can counteract nonsense when it's coming out of these institutions," such as the CDC and NIH [National Institutes of Health], according to DeSantis.

"They're not just going to go with the flow and follow precooked narratives, but will actually do evidence-based analysis," he said.

Ladapo, who co-chaired the roundtable with DeSantis, has the legal power to convene expert panels for studies such as these, DeSantis said.

Ladapo said a third action would be studying the incidence of myocarditis, including fatalities, within a few weeks of COVID-19 vaccination.

He cited a German study of people who got the vaccine and died suddenly and unexpectedly at home soon afterward. In autopsies, four of 35 victims were found to have had an unusual form of myocarditis.

They never made it into most studies done of patients at hospitals and emergency rooms, which generated "estimates the CDC likes to pretend are accurate," Ladapo said. University of Florida researchers and Florida medical examiners will participate in the study.

When government collects a "big" fine from a corporation for its mal-practices, such as the fine levied against the Saklers for their corporate policies that led to the deaths of hundreds of thousands of Americans, it behooves us to reflect that, from one perspective (call it the Mafia Don perspective), this amounts to the state taking a piece of the action.

It would be different if the result was corporate management and investors suffering criminal penalties, or the corporation being terminated. But, for instance, in California, the fines levied against PG&E for incinerating thousands of homes and dozens of people didn't amount to more than a small percentage of the corporation's yearly profits. This is typical and it is a fundamental problem.

And people ignore the elephant in the room. There was NO misconduct of covid, it was managed exactly like they planned on managing it.

Logically thinking;

Since I know the globalists promote REDUCED population for sustainability, while that requiries multifacetted solutions

Since I know that children are the future,

Since I know the inoculation affects fertility of both makes and females, ovaries and testes. Bleeding, spontaneous abortions..

Since I see our youth and the fittest of the fit, are strikken with myocarditis, while the blind agree that it is only just a mild case of permanent heart damage.

Since I know that all cause mortality is up everywhere, after the inoculation, egregiously, mostly for the fittest and youngest amongst us. Maybe millions dead, certainly millions harmed

Since I know our boys and our girls are forced into the inoculation by the schools, while the Didn't DeSantis take $$ from Big Pharma? That goes with the other politicians who are bought and paid for by corporations, industrial complexes, secret societies, and the overlords. What is there to say this would be turned into another political theater under the guise of making it appear the injustice system works?

Let's see how the grand jury really goes. But still mass arrests of these evil doers and military tribunals for crimes against humanity. Amazing how DeSantis didn't shut down human trafficking, question everything. Is he a Freemason being groomed for Potus of a bankrupt federal corporation?

People, what makes the following video presentation about the "extremely dangerous and deadly"' Covid 'vaccines' so special is that it's given by Senator Gerard Rennick, a highly regarded Australian politician serving the state of Queensland. The crucial point is that Gerard is basically a business guy and politician, NOT a scientist; however, he really knows the Covid vaccine science. And, most importantly, he speaks in layman's terms in his very own down-to-earth Aussie way.

If the American people are fortunate each of the other 50 states in the country will soon follow the excellent example set by Florida, and initiate investigations into apparent medical fraud and negligent homicide of historic proportion.

When the 50 investigations are concluded, those accountable for immeasurably-destructive criminality shall have become identified, prosecuted and justly punished, - and the long 3-year COVID global crime-spree nightmare shall evaporate into extinction.

One of the few politicians actually doing something about this travesty. Ron Johnson is another. We better hope a man like DeSantis is in the WH come 2030 when 'The Great Reset' will, supposedly, become reality.

The Zoom call here, https://rumble.com/v2039a7-... will introduce you to a Supreme Court case titled Brunson v Adams. It is, without exaggeration, the biggest most important court case in all of modern American history. I learned about this case just a week ago and was surprised I hadn't heard about it long before then. What's even more surprising and disturbing is the fact that none of my trusted news sources, including The Defender, have mentioned and been following this case. What's going on here?

This is some seriously good news. Hopefully some of those governors will stand up with him and not just hide in the shadows.

In related news. I noticed senator Roger Marshall of Kansas appeared at Ron Johnson's roundtable last week. So Ron Johnson isn't having to stand alone. Senator Marshall is a medical doctor, so he'll lend more credibility to the cause, I hope. I am also from Kansas, so I can attend any local events he has as well as give him money.
